Dear Sir/s,

I have been engaged by the Management of Pushpa Jewellers Limited (hereinafter referred to as "Company" or "PJL") for the purpose of assessing fair value of Equity Shares for the proposed preferential allotment under Sec 62(1)(c) of the Companies Act 2013 and Regulation 164 and 166A Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018 since the Company is Listed in National Stock Exchange of India Limited (NSE). The Company is registered under the Companies Act, 1956 (CIN: L27310WB2009PLC135593) and its registered office is at 22, East Topsia Road, 4th Floor, FL-4A, Tirumala, Gobinda Khatick Road, A. C Lane, Kolkata 700046, West Bengal, India.

I have relied on the financial statements given by the management of the company and have not assessed the merits or legality of the transaction. Our report is not some advice on the transaction and should not be used as the basis of investment. In case of material changes in the financial statements or financial position of the company, the values may change significantly. Our valuation conclusion will not necessarily be the price at which actual transaction will take place.

Based on the information provided by the management, I have arrived at the "Fair Value" ("Valuation" or "Value") of the Company as of the relevant date i.e., April 06, 2026. It should be noted that the valuation engagement is purely an analytical exercise based on the information and documents given to us. Based on our assessment the value of the shares of the Company is arrived at INR 101.84 per equity share. The detailed valuation report including the computation of fair value of the Equity share and Share Warrants of the Company has been attached in subsequent pages. Share Warrants are valued as Equity shares.

Thanking You,

Yours Faithfully,

Mr. Anandkumar Gawade,

Share Warrants shall be converted into equity shares in 1:1 ratio. Hence, those are valued as Equity Shares.

Valuation Approaches:

There are three main valuation approaches. They are all based on the economic principles of price equilibrium, anticipation of benefits or substitution. The goal in selecting valuation approaches and methods for an asset is to find the most appropriate method under the particular circumstances. No one method is suitable in every possible situation. The main valuation approaches are:

- 1) Market Price approach
- 2) Income approach
- 3) Cost approach

Procedures adopted in carrying out the valuation and valuation standards followed:

- Business valuation has been carried out using approaches and methodologies given under IVS 105 "Valuation Approaches and Methods' and in compliance with SEBI ICDR Regulations
- Business valuation is carried out by Market Price Method.
- Scope of this report is provided by complying the IVS 101 "Scope of Work".
- Investigations undertaken for carrying out the valuation is done as per IVS 102 "Investigations and Compliance". Sufficient Evidence has been assembled by means of inspection, enquiry and analysis.

Given the shares are frequently traded, I have applied the following approaches to valuation as per method prescribed under SEBI ICDR Regulation 164 follows:

1) Market Approach:

The Market Approach provides an indication of value by comparing the asset with identical or comparable (that is similar) assets for which price information is available.

The Market Approach should be applied and afforded significant weight under the following circumstances:

- a) The subject asset has recently been sold in a transaction appropriate for consideration under the basis of value,
- b) The subject asset or substantially similar assets are actively publicly traded, and/or
- c) There are frequent and/or recent observable transactions in substantially similar assets.

There are some of the limitations to the Market Approach which are as follows:

- It is difficult to identify transactions or companies that are comparable. There is usually a lack of a sufficient number of comparable companies or transactions.
- It is less flexible compared to other methods.

The method raises questions on how much data is available and how good the data is. The company is a listed company and shares of the company are traded frequently in the Market since, the traded turnover of PJI during the 240 trading days preceding the relevant date is more than 10% of its total number of Shares. Market approach has been assigned 33.33% weightage. We have given an equal weightage of 33.33% to all three valuation approach.

Working of frequently Traded shares on NSE:

Total no. of shares of Pushpa Jewellers Limited	2,42,22,912
10% of Total no. of shares of Pushpa Jewellers Limited	24,22,291
Total traded shares on Stock Exchange during 240 trading days preceding relevant date	1,25,10,000
Hence, the shares of Pushpa Jewellers Limited are frequently traded	Frequent

Given the shares are frequently traded, I have applied the Market Approach to valuation as per the method prescribed under SEBI ICDR Regulation 164 as follows:

I have considered data of higher of the following under this approach:

- a. the 90 trading days' volume weighted average price of the related equity shares quoted on the recognized stock exchange preceding the relevant date; or
- b. the 10 trading days' volume weighted average prices of the related equity shares quoted on the recognized stock exchange preceding the relevant date.

As per calculation, Market price is arrived at Rs 101.84.

Sl No.	Parameters	Value (in INR)
i	the 90 trading days volume weighted average price of the related equity shares quoted on the recognised stock exchange preceding the relevant date;	100.65
ii	the 10 trading days volume weighted average prices of the related equity shares quoted on a recognised stock exchange preceding the relevant date.	101.84
	Higher of the above	101.84

2) Income Approach:

The Income Approach provides an indication of value by converting future cash flow to single current value. Under the Income Approach, the value of an asset is determined by reference to the value of income, cash flow or cost savings generated by the asset. The Income Approach should be applied and afforded significant weight under the following circumstances:

- The income-producing ability of the asset is the critical element affecting value from a participant perspective, and/or
- Reasonable projections of the amount and timing of future income are available to the subject asset, but there are few, if any, relevant markets comparable.

A fundamental basis for the Income Approach is that investors expect to receive a return on their investments and that such a return should reflect the perceived level of risk in the investment.

One of the advantages is that the Income Approach has over the other two approaches is that it is more flexible in addressing firms or assets that are in different stages of the life cycle. This is because this approach factors in varying operating conditions over the projected period. The Income Approach is also able to cater to the differing investment or ownership needs of the buyer and seller, by measuring risks through its discount or capitalization rate, or by including cost synergies in its projections.

I have used Profit Earning Capitalization Method (PECV), here I have capitalized the weighted average profit of past 3.50 years (September 30, 2025, FY-2025, 2024 and 2023) by using a capitalization rate of 9.09% (calculation attached below). I have given 33.33% weightage to Income Approach method.

3) Cost Approach:

The Cost Approach provides an indication of value using the economic principle that a buyer will pay no more for an asset than the cost to obtain an asset of equal utility, whether by purchase or by construction, unless undue time, inconvenience, risk, or other factors are involved. The Approach provides an indication of value by calculating the current replacement or reproduction cost of an asset and making deductions for physical deterioration and all other relevant forms of obsolescence. The Cost Approach should be applied and afforded significant weight under the following circumstances:

- Company would be able to recreate an asset with substantially the same utility as the subject asset, without regulatory or legal restrictions, and the asset could be recreated quickly enough that a participant would not be willing to pay a significant premium for the ability to use the subject asset immediately.
- The asset is not directly income generating and the unique nature of the asset makes using an Income Approach or Market Approach unfeasible and/or
- The basis of value being used is fundamentally based on replacement cost, such as replacement value.

I have calculated the amount of Net Worth in the books of the company as on September 30, 2025. Net Asset Value method has been given 33.33% weightage.

Calculation of Book Value as on 30-09-2025

			67.41
	Fair Value		67.41
Add: Control Premium - NIL			-
	Total Fair Value		67.41

Note: Since, in the instant case, as mentioned in the relevant extracts of Regulation 166A of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018, the proposed preferential issue is not likely to result in a change in control of the issuer as per the information given to me by the management of the Company, hence, control premium has not been considered.

Gratitude:

I am grateful to the Management for making information and particulars available to me, often at a short notice, without which this assessment would not have been concluded in a time-bound manner.

Conclusion:

Regulation 164 of SEBI ICDR states that in case of a frequently traded company, the valuation has to be done as per the stipulated market approach method and as per Proviso clause of Regulation 166A states 'that the floor price, in such cases, shall be higher of the floor price determined under sub-regulation (1), (2) or (4) of regulation 164, as the case may be, or the price determined under the valuation report from the Independent Registered Valuer or the price determined in accordance with the provisions of the Articles of Association of the issuer, if applicable

As per Regulation 164(1) of SEBI Preferential Issue Regulations, the value per share of the company arrives at INR 101.84, and the weighted average Fair Value as per the table above is INR 67.41. Therefore, as per Regulation 164(1) of SEBI Preferential Issue Regulations, the fair value of the equity shares of the company for the purpose the transaction will be higher of the two and hence INR 101.84 can be considered as fair value of the equity shares of the company.

In the light of above, and on the consideration of all relevant factors as discussed and outline hereinabove, the price of the equity share of PJJ to be allotted pursuant to the preferential issue shall not be less than INR 101.84/- per Share as calculated under SEBI ICDR Regulation 164.

6. No Responsibility to the Actual Price of the subject asset if sold or transferred/ exchanged

The actual market price achieved may be higher or lower than my estimate of value (or value range of value) depending upon the circumstances of the transaction (for example the competitive bidding environment), the nature of the business (for example the purchaser's perception of potential synergies). The knowledge, negotiating ability and motivation of the buyers and sellers and the applicability of a discount or premium for control will also affect actual market price achieved. Accordingly, my valuation conclusion will not necessarily be the price at which actual transaction will take place.
